

ARMY BILL IN THE SENATE.

AN AMENDMENT THAT PROVED A DEBATE ON TRUSTS.

Senators Sewell and Stewart defend combinations of capital, and Senators Bristow, Pettigrew and Teller oppose them. The bill was passed by the Senate yesterday morning. It was taken up in the Senate to-day. As it passed the House it carried 112,186,404. The Senate Committee on Appropriations increased the amount to $114,954,500, as against total appropriations for the current fiscal year of $125,832,436.

The first paragraph of the bill was struck out, and the following was substituted for it: "That the act approved Jan. 12, 1899, granting extra pay to officers and enlisted men of the United States Volunteers shall extend to all officers and enlisted men of volunteer organizations who have served honestly and faithfully in the volunteer army of the United States during the war with Spain and have been honorably discharged prior to Jan. 12, 1899, with their organizations, without furlough, or by reason of their services being no longer required, or at any time by reason of wounds received or disability contracted in the service, and in the line of duty, and who have received the extra pay granted in said act, or in subsequent acts of Congress supplemental thereto."

Mr. Berry (Dem., Ark.) offered an amendment requiring preference to be given in regard to the purchase of supplies, to merchants and dealers who are members of, or who contribute to, any trust or combination, other things being equal.

Mr. Sewell (Rep., N. J.) said that what were called trusts had been great benefactors to the people of the United States and to the people of the world. He said that the American Sugar Company and the American Sugar Refining Company (in neither of which had he ever owned a share) had resulted in cheapening the products and thus benefiting the people.

Mr. Stewart of Nevada declared the impossibility of legislating against trusts. He said that he had tried to do so through all the ages, and he had failed. The only remedy against trusts was competition.

Mr. Pettigrew replied to Mr. Stewart and declared that under the bill trusts would be continued to be formed until every proposed industry was under the sheltering wings of a combination. He said that the bill admitted that the remedy did not reside in the tariff alone, but that the reduction or abolition of tariff duties would be a step in the right direction. He indicated the iron and steel paper trusts as having threatened prices and the cotton trust as an attempt upon the part of the newspapers to abolish the duty on printing paper, and on nothing.

Mr. Teller (St. Rep., Cal.) said that although he was not unduly much in such matters, he was going to vote for Mr. Berry's amendment. He would vote for anything that would reach the trusts. He said that there were trusts which were controlled by former Senator Murphy which were contributing a dollar to a political party, it would take time to get the breaking up of those great combinations.

The vote was taken and the amendment was rejected—yeas 18, nays 29. The bill was then passed by the Senate. The bill was taken up in the Senate to-day. As it passed the House it carried 112,186,404. The Senate Committee on Appropriations increased the amount to $114,954,500, as against total appropriations for the current fiscal year of $125,832,436.
